POETRY.

FROM THE FED. REPUBLICAN

Messrs. Editors,

In the collection of Hymns used by the Presbyterian congregation of the late Reverend Mr. Buckminster of Boston, who was an ornament to his country as a Clergyman, a scholar and a gentleman—I have often admired the following, on Candour, by Scott and I transcribe it for your useful paper, as not inapplicable at a time, when questions which call for the exercise of it, agitate the public mind. M.

"All-seeing God! 'tis thine to know
The springs whence wrong opinions flow;
To judge from principles within,
When frailty errs, and when we sin.

"Who among men, great Lord of all
Thy servant to his bar shall call?
Judge him, for modes of faith, thy foe,
And doom him to the realms of woe?

"Who with an another's eye can read?
Or worship by another's creed?
Trusting thy grace, we form our own;
And bow to thy commands alone.

"If wrong, correct; accept if right,
While faithful we improve our light,
Condemning none, but zealous still,
To learn and follow at thy will."

MISCELLANY.

FROM THE CONNECTICUT JOURNAL.

The late President Dwight.—He died, as has been discovered since his death, of a cancer near the neck of the bladder; in the sixty-fifth year of his age, and the twenty-second of his Presidency. The excruciating agony of this hidden, and to him unknown disease, he bore with truly christian heroism, afflicting him as it did at intervals for a year or two past, until finally his vigorous and otherwise healthful constitution, fell its victim on the 11th inst. overcome and exhausted by mere intensity of pain.

The funeral ceremonies on Tuesday last, were impressively solemn and affecting, and were attended by the Officers, Graduates and Members of the University present, a vast concourse of mourning Citizens and though the weather was extremely cold, by the clergy and others from the neighboring towns.—The corpse was carried into the Rev. Mr. Taylor's meeting-house, where a suitable and ingenious discourse was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Chapin, from Hebrews XIII, 7, 8.—The pulpit and communion table, and singer's gallery were appropriately clothed in black. During the funeral solemnities all the business of the city seemed to be suspended, and the stores were generally closed. These, however, were but poor and inadequate expressions of that heart felt grief which universally pervaded, and will long pervade, the hearts of all classes of the citizens of New-Haven, for the loss of the great and good man—the guide, friend and ornament to their city, on so many solemn, public occasions.

It is understood that soon after the students re-assemble, at the close of the present vacation, one of the faculty will pronounce an Oration on this bereaving stroke of Divine Providence, before the corporation, faculty and students of the university.

We are informed that President Dwight had recently revised his celebrated System of Theology, his travels through New-England, and others of his most important manuscripts, and has left them in a state of readiness for the press. The publication of these works, we have no doubt, will exalt the character of American literature, and carry the memory of their author to generations yet unborn, as one of the brightest luminaries of the present age. Clarum et venerabile nomen will ever be written in shining characters the name of DWIGHT, on the list of American Worthies.

FROM THE POUGHKEEPSIE HERALD, JAN. 15.

Atrocious & unnatural crime. The following extraordinary case of the most atrocious of crimes, has lately come to our knowledge. For its correctness in every particular we cannot vouch, but the mournful intelligence has been received from so many directions, that we are inclined to believe it substantially correct.

The public will recollect, that some 8 or 10 years ago, a man by the name of Jesse Wood, was executed in this town for having, as was at that time alledged, and proved, caused the death of his son, Joseph Wood.

The old man persisted to the last in declaring his innocence, and it now appears that the principal witness against the unfortunate old man was his own son Kier, or Hezekiah.

This monster, in human shape, has lately been called upon to render an account for his doings in this life, and horrid to relate! he confessed, on his dying bed, that he was his brother's murderer! and that in addition to this unnatural crime, he had been guilty of perjury; and thus caused his innocent father to suffer an ignominious death! A just God has at length punished the unnatural wretch, and would not suffer him to depart hence, until he made a full disclosure of his accumulated crimes, in the presence of a number of witnesses—He then gave him a prospect of the dreadful punishments that awaited him hereafter—The miserable wretch, after he had confessed his horrid crimes declared that he saw hell open, and the flames ascending to devour him.

May his awful death be a warning to others, and deter them from the commission of even the least of crimes. If the life of this wretch could be known, it is possible the commencement of his depravity might be traced to petty pilfering. Beware, then, of doing any thing that looks like crime, lest your end may be like his.

We have seldom heard of a more aggravated case of crime, of the blackest dye, and nothing but a desire of doing justice to the memory of an innocent and much injured man, could have induced us to give publicity to this atrocious case.

Let the tragic end of the elder Wood be a warning to jurors—Let it be engraven on the memory of every man who may be called upon to perform this solemn duty—and let them remember, that it is far better for "ninety and nine criminals to escape punishment, than for one innocent man to suffer.

The Moravians.—The following remarks in the London Quarterly Review (1816) are calculated to excite a feeling of interest in the minds of all the well disposed. The Review, treating on the subject of Missionaries, in Letters on the Nicobar Islands, observed:

"No sect was ever more calumniated than that of the Moravians when Count Zinzendorf brought them into public notice; and it must be admitted, that the language of their hymns gave ample occasion for disgust and scandal. Like other sects they have outgrown their follies, and outlived the calumnies consequent upon them; and certain it is that no community in proportion to its numbers and means has ever made such persevering and successful exertions for spreading the gospel. Wherever men are most ignorant, most brutalized, most wretched, there they have gone to teach them the first and most essential of the arts of civilized life, & to offer them the hopes and the consolations of christianity. They have thus effected the conversion of the Greenlanders; they are labouring among the Esquemaux; the North-American Indians; the Negro Slaves in the sugar islands, and in Dutch Guiana, and with the Hottentots. The annual expenditure of these missions, beyond what the establishments furnish to their own support, is about 8000*l*, and hitherto it has been wholly as well as cheerfully supported by a community which is neither numerous nor opulent, but most meritoriously industrious and frugal. But they have shared in the general ruin which the insatiable ambition of one individual has bro't upon the whole continent of Europe. Their settlements in Germany have been exhausted by repeated requisition, and that at Moscow plundered by the French and burnt; all its members being at at once literally mad beggars. In this state of things they have for the first time appealed to the benevolence of other christian communities, to assist them in discharging a debt of 4000*l* at which they estimate the debt of deficit of the year, occasioned by these circumstance."

Gas Light.—A young gentleman of this city, about ten days ago showed the editor the drawing of an apparatus to be attached to a gas lamp, which, being once lighted, supplies itself with gas, at once generating and consuming it—no matter what the substance, coal or resin, &c—Of its success we have no doubt. We understand he is now constructing one.

U. S. Bank Bills are in circulation at Philadelphia. They are elegant specimens of engraving &c. N. Y. paper.

Gambling.—Gambling is about to receive a serious check in Kentucky, if a bill before the legislature shall become a law. It requires an oath to be taken by every person accepting a civil or military office, that he will not, during his continuance in office, bet money or property on any game at hazard, or in any other manner, shooting at a mark excepted.

Gen. Alexander Smyth, the hero who figured away so nobly on the Canada lines, in the late war, has set himself up as a candidate for congress in the state of Virginia. In his address to the electors he tells them, that they shall find in him "a faithful watchman, a friend of the people and of the government, rather influenced by principles than by party, and supporting measures, not men."

He should have concluded his address by calling on the electors to come up to the polls "singly, doubly, by pairs, horse back, and every other way," in support of his election. Ev. Post.

BOSTON, JAN. 4.

The last reports from the American squadron in the Mediterranean render it probable that there will be a rupture with Algiers, and that Com. CHAUNCEY will declare that place in a state of blockade. In the present feeling in Europe in regard to Algiers, it is probable such a blockade would be seen with pleasure. We believe France has considerable trade with the Barbary Powers.

There is a new story of the success of the Spanish Revolutionists in the Province of Venezuela, under M'Gregor. A few days since we had an account of the arrival of this Chief at Port-au-Prince, disgusted with his latter associates, and intending to try his fortune in the Mexican territory.

The Parliament of Lower Canada has just commenced a session. Attention is commonly attracted to these meetings by the frequent [illegible] of harmony between Canadian Legislature and the Executive Authority—which has occasioned the dissolution of several Parliaments—but the old Members are commonly returned again.

The U. S. brig Chippewa, Lt. READ, which sailed from Boston November 27, for the Gulf of Mexico, was cast away 15 days afterwards on the N. W. Point of the Grand Caicos. The Officers and crew were saved, and have been brought to New-York. Part of the sails and rigging have been saved.

The Chippewa was an elegant vessel of her class mounted 18 guns, and was built at Warren, (R. I.) in 1814. She ran on a reef of rocks at half past 7 in the evening,

The influence of peace in Europe, is seen, in the low price of Ammunition—The brig Hope lately arrived from Amsterdam was ballasted with shot & shells, which she procured at a very low price, to the amount of 120 tons. They are a part of the stock accumulated under the French government It would seem that the Dutch do not expect to have any further occasion to use their artillery.

Prince SAUNDERS, an African, late of this town, but now in the service of Christophe, King of Hayti, has recently compiled, and published in London, a work entitled Haytian Papers, with a preface by himself. To the work, is prefixed, a Portrait of the Editor, which is an excellent likeness. The publication consisting principally of official papers, which serve as a tolerable history of the Kingdom is designed to vindicate the claims of Hayti to be ranked among civilized and enlightened States. It is quite creditable to the Authors of the individual papers, and we think few persons will examine the volume, without some surprize, at the degree of talents & intelligence that it discovers. There is a copy in the Boston Athenæum presented by the Editor.

HALIFAX PAPERS.

These papers contain accouats of the distressed situation of the labouring poor, and fishermen, on the Island of [illegible], in consequence of the pressure of the times and the general scarcity. The population is estimated at 11,000, and in November there were only 1000 barrels of flour on hand:—Vessels had been taken up by government, to convey 800 of the sufferers to England, and 150 had arrived in Halifax.

From a Charleston paper.

Important.—We received yesterday, by the schr. Despatch, a file of Havanna papers from the 1st to the 11th inst. inclusive. We observe, among them, an extract from a Madrid paper, containing official orders for the restitution of all that property of the French, which during the late war, had been sequestered or confiscated.

Very Extraordinary.—On the 18th of October last, Mr. Schenck, who keeps the Lighthouse at Sandy Hook killed a cow, in whose stomach was found, forty nine nails, two buttons, three shot, one sail needle, two pins, and sundry pieces of metal. [New-York Gaz.

The new Penal Code of Georgia, has not yet we believe, been published. A section of it interdicts the trading in Negroes, and is probably calculated as effectually as the law of South-Carolina, to prevent trafficking in this species of property. The Georgia Journal, contains the following article, which is all we have seen published on the subject—we should be glad to see the entire section published as soon as possible. "A section of our new Penal Code interdicts, under very severe penalties, the introduction of slaves into this state by negro traders for speculation, subjecting to a fine of one thousand dollars and to five years imprisonment, the person who shall bring into the state a slave and shall sell or offer for sale, such slave, within one year thereafter, with the exception only of emigrants from the other state, who are allowed to bring with them and dispose of as they, may think proper, slaves, who are their bona fide property. It will be observed that the section above alluded to, does not prohibit the resident of this state or others, from bringing Negroes into it for their own use, but subjects them to the severe penalties of the act, if they sell or offer them for sale within a specified time." Augusta Herald.

American Coin.—The Director of the United States Mint reports the comage, for the last year, of 2,888,135 pieces, amounting to $56,785.57, viz. 47,150 half dollars, 20,003 qr. dollars, and 2,820,982 cents.

Indian Purchase.—It is now believed, that the commissioners will succeed in making a purchase of the Delaware Indians of all their lands within this state, the consent of the Miamies and Pottawatimies having been obtained. This body of land, about fifty millions of acres, is the best in the western country—the most part superior to the Miami purchase in Ohio.—Indiana Paper.

Gen, Philemon Beecher, a conspicuous Federalist, is elected, (by the 4th. congressional district in the state of Ohio,) to fill the seat in the next Congress which is now occupied by the Hon. Mr. Kilborn.

The U. S. Bank.—The measure adopted by the Directors of this Bank, to postpone the payment of the specie instalment will excite much astonishment and indignation throughout the country. By the congress news this day, it will be seen, that Mr. Forsyths' motion, to [illegible] and enforce the payment of specie, was adopted by a majority of 12. It is to be hoped, that congress will make thorough work in this business, and either compel the directors to obey the laws of the country, or revoke the already violated charter of the Bank.

We are happy to learn, that the most respectable of the Philadelphia directors, and all who live North of that city, were strongly opposed to this attempt to evade the provisions of the charter. Com. Adv.

As a machine of perpetual motion cannot be made, a large one for mills, &c. to run 24 hours, without water, wind or steam, is contemplated. It is said Mr J. B. CANNON, of Virginia, "has in idea the invention of such a machine".

LONDON, OCT. 26.

The Lord Mayor.—Yesterday there was a grand dinner at the City of London Tavern, to celebrate the second Election of the Lord Mayor. The Duke of Sussex was in the Chair, supported by Lord Mountford, Sir Philip Francis and the Lord Mayor. The Regent's health with mingled applause and disapprobation was drank. On proposing the health of the Princess Charlotte and Prince Cobourg, the Duke announced him as a Brother Fishmonger. The Duke of Gloucester, the Fishmonger and his wife, were drank.

Madame Condorcet, whose husband voted in the Convention to send Louis XVI. to the gallies, was present at the trial of her brother, Gen. Grouchy. From the General's son every thing was pardonable in his defence. But it is lamentable to hear it now pleaded, that a General went to fight against the son of his Sovereign only to kinder civil war—and the last phrase of his speech, where he says, that "among the honorable remembrances his father carried with him into exile, the most cherished by his heart, is the thought of having conducted from the banks of the Dyle, thro' 200,000 enemies, 40,000 Frenchmen, unconquered, even to the walls of Paris.

German papers, which we received last night, represent the attention of the Emperor of Russia as anxiously devoted to the creation of an immense marine. He certainly possesses [illegible] carrying his purpose into effect.

It is said that the Historical Department of the Edinburg Annual Register, just published, is from the celebrated pen of the author of Paul's Letters.

NEW-YORK, JAN. 25.

Latest from Cadiz.—By the arrival yesterday of the ship William, Capt. Smith, in 58 days from Cadiz, we learn verbally, that when Capt. S. sailed, a spanish force of 10,000 men, under General O'Donald were assembled at St. Mary's waiting for transports, to embark for South America, to proceed against the Patriots. They had detaineded all the British vessels in Cadiz and the adjacent ports for that purpose.

A Spanish frigate of 44 guns, as convoy to a number of merchantmen, was preparing to leave Cadiz for Vera Cruz, Havana, and other Spanish ports, and would be ready to sail in a few days.

Several Buenos Ayres privateers were cruising off Cadiz and Malaga. They had made great havoc among the Spanish homeward bound merchantmen, having captured about 29 sail during the month of November.

NEW-YORK, JAN. 27.

War in St. Domingo.—The schooner Susan, Prentiss, left Port au Prince on the 1st inst. Capt. P. states that hostilities between Christophe and Petion were about to be renewed; that the former was on his march to Port au Prince, and was within thirty miles of that place, and that the latter had despatched 6000 men to give battle to the enemy. It was supposed that the battle would be fought on the day the Susan sailed.

CONGRESS.

IN SENATE.

Thursday, Jan. 30.

The bill from the House of Representatives to amend the act authorizing payment for property lost, captured, &c. was taken up; and, after discussion, was, on motion of Mr. Mason of N. H. recommitted to the committee of Claims, with instructions so to amend the act as to make it the duty of the Commissioner to examine all testimony relating to Claims arising under the 9th section of the original act, and report the facts to Congress for their determination.

The bill to establish a seperate territorial government in the eastern part of Mississippi territory, was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The bill to provide for the due execution of the laws of the United States in the state of Indiana, was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The bill to provide for the prompt settlement of public accounts (according to the plan proposed by the report of the Heads of Departments on that subject) was read a third time, [illegible] for concurrence.

The bill to repeal the compensation law from and after the end of the present session, was taken up.

A motion was made by Mr. Chace to strike out of the bill the proviso the following words;

"Provided always, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to revive any act or acts or parts of acts, repealed or suspended by the act hereby repealed."

The question on this motion was decided in the negative.

The bill was then ordered to be read a third time, in the shape it passed the other House.

States are not ordinarily permitted to enter and trade."

This bill occupied the remainder of the day in debate and amendment.

Some amendments were agreed to.

Mr. Jackson of Va. moved to strike out the first section—tantamount to a motion to reject the bill. This motion he afterwards withdrew for the present, to enable Mr. Forsyth to propose amendments.

Mr. Forsyth then moved to amend the bill by striking out the whole of it, and substituting in lieu thereof sundry sections for imposing discriminating duties on imports and tonnage in cases in which the bill now under consideration contemplates exclusion or prohibition.

This amendment was under consideration, when the committee rose and reported progress, and

The House adjourned.

FAYETTEVILLE:

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 6, 1817.

More Commercial Regulations—More "restrictive energies."—There are now before Congress two Bills, which will occasion much argument, and which, if enacted, may create some little interruption in our present pacific relations with England. The most serious one, is the Bill to prohibit all Commercial intercourse with such ports or places where the vessels of the United States are not permitted to enter and trade. Now, as a matter of simple and honest reciprocity, no one can object to the passage of such a bill—But, it looks too serious; and so much like bringing back the olden times of commercial restriction and non-intercourse, that we are alarmed at the mere caption of it. It is a ghost which we tremble to hear of, and hoped never would be permitted to revisit us again. It is indeed a serious matter that the trade between us and the British Colonies should be all on their side; yet, the question naturally arises, whether, at the time of making the convention of London, these things could not clearly be foreseen? It is another matter, if England has adopted any subsequent system of commerce which contravenes this Treaty—Then, our retaliation would be morally correct. But, by this retaliation, who is most injured? Cui bono? Do we not hurt ourselves most? [We had intended to enter more at length upon this subject, but have not room.] Was it known at the making of the treaty, that the Navigation Acts of England, which had become the fundamental rules of the Kingdom and engrafted upon their common law, would still be in operation? Why not then provide against it?

A democratic paper observes, upon this subject that if Great Britain has enacted no new law, then, "our negociators were outwitted in that memorable compact." Why, this has been said many times before, but it proceeded from federal mouths, therefore, was not orthodox,—and they said so too before the war—And yet, we all hear a continual cry of glorious war and glorious peace. We repeat, again, that notwithstanding the fortuitous circumstances, that brought about the peace, and notwithstanding the glory and national distress of that war, we have not yet seen half of its evil effects.

MARTIAL LAW.

We have received a communication, signed "a citizen," complaining of the inconvenience which the town suffers in conseqence of the military guard at the gaol. There is no need of creating animosities by publishing this piece, though we believe the writer is more than half right.

There is a man now confined in the gaol of this county for stealing a horse. This being a capital crime, and the prison being rather insecure, and the disposition of the prisoner, not being of the most pacific order, it has been thought necessary in additon to the irons with which he is clogged, to call in the aid of a military force to guard the gaol every night. Our correspondent complains that this guard have been in the habit of challenging the citizens of the town, both male and female, while passing the public street in front of the gaol, and "particularly on on Sunday night last." If this is the fact, there is no doubt that it is entirely unauthorised either by the officers (or at any rate it is by the law of the land. Every citizen has a right to pursue his proper and peaceful avocations without such violent interruptions. It is necessary that a guard should be posted there, let it be done in a soldier like manner; let them mark their lines and prevent any one from trespassing them; but we doubt whether it is not contrary to all system of military discipline and of good manners, to [illegible] citizens in passing this street at an [illegible] of the evening, when no intention is manifested to approach the sentinel. It is questionable indeed, whether considering the distance of the prison from the street and the necessity of the case, such an attack by a soldier would not amount to a common assault, at any rate, a sentinel would stand a bad chance with a jury, if he were to be indicted for the offence.

We hope the evil will be remedied and, the prisoner removed to some safer gaol, as the chief Justice has intimated that he will readily grant an order for this purpose. If the present course is persued we are completely under martial law.

Gen. John Roberts of Carteret, who was expelled from the senate last session under a charge of fraud and forgery and who manoeuvred very sharply to get himself elected a Senator to Congress, is to be tried by a court martial at Newbern next month. Gen. Wm. Watts Jones of Wilmington is appointed President of the court.

Mr. Richard Parish, who probably from relationship to the Russian secretary of legation, was made deputy to Mr. Lord in the post office at Wilmington, has himself become obnoxious to his majesty the postmaster general. His successor is Mr. Charles Moore. We understand that this change has given great dissatisfaction at Wilmington, and that a remonstrance [illegible] head quarters. The post office there has lately been managed extremely well, and it is to be regretted that any necessity for frequent changes so often occurs.

[COMMUNICATION.]

BEWARE OF A SWINDLER!

The public are cautioned against a certain man who has practised, in the course of two or three weeks past, several frauds on the citizens of this place. From some of the merchants, he obtained money, on the pretence of having produce coming into town, in a few hours; from others, by pledging notes (no doubt of his own manufacture) on persons that nobody can give any intelligence about. He calls himself George Rudisill, says he is from Orange County; (tho' it is believed from circumstances he is from Lincoln County in this state) he appears to be about forty years old rather below the ordinary height, stout made, dark hair and ruddy complexion—a man of insinuating manners, and capable of being an accomplished villain.

Printers throughout the state will do the public a service, by giving the above an insertion.

A petitition has been presented to the Pennsylvania Legislature for the call of a Convention to amend the Constitution so as to diminish Executive Patronage—of which probably the petitioners have had no chance of getting any.

The Mechanics' Bank of this city has declared a dividend of four and a half per cent. out of the profits of this business for the last six months, to be paid the stockholders on the 1st day of February next. N. Y. Paper.

The Grand Canal.—The legislature of this state convenes this day, at Albany, by adjournment. The great number of applications for new Banks, Turnpikes, &c. notices of which are published in the state paper, would seem to indicate a busy session. There is, however, one great object which we consider as paramount to all others at this time, and that is, the proposition for uniting the waters of the great western lakes and of lake Champlain, with those of the Hudson.—Troy Register.

Mr. VAN BEUREN has given notice in the N. Y. Legislature of his intention to move for leave to bring in a bill to abolish imprisonment for debt, and punish otherwise frauds on creditors.

The receipts of the Treasury of New-York last year, amounted to upwards $ 2,000,000, and the expenditures to nearly the same sum.

Compensation Law.—The Baltimore Patriot remarks—"A member of Congress in his speech says, such was the rage in Kentucky, against the compensation act, that a person had actually refused to let a young man court his daughter, unless he wouuld forswear that law!"

Pennsylvania.—The people of Pennsylvania pay no general State Tax, yet such is the productive nature of the funds they hold, and of Tavern and Auction Licences, that the public Revenue in 1817 is estimated at 859,202 dollars; the expenditure at 494,000; leaving a surplus of nearly 400,000 dollars.

Greek Literature.—The Boston Daily Advertiser remarks—"There seem to be many indications of a revival of Letters in Greece—There is a learned Greek from the Island of Chios now pursuing his studies in the literature of his ancestors as well as of the present day, at the University of Gottingen. There has recently been established in Munich, in Germany, by professors Thiersch, an Athenæum, for the education of young Greeks which is said to be in successful operation.—There are now young men at this school from Greece Proper, the Islands, Asia, Moldavia, Wallachia; among whom are sons of the first families, including a grandson of the late Prince of Moldavia, a nephew of Archbishop Ignatia, and three brothers from the Archipelgo, of the name of Connerri.

BOSTON, JAN. 28.

A letter from a person on board our squadron in the Mediterranean mentions that a man belonging to the frigate Java, was accused at Messina on board a Britsh merchant sch. of stealing some leather, and severely flogged by order of the mate—although the leather was given him by a man belonging to the sch. That this treatment was retaliated on English seamen on shore.

A deserter from the U. S. sloop of war Ontario, was afterwards taken out of the above schooner at sea. Her sailing being watched for the purpose.

Com. Chauncey, while in Naples Bay reduced the number of his squadron there to five to comply with the wishes of the King and an old rule as was stated.

Failure of Crops in Canada.—The following extracts are taken from the speech of the Governor of Lower Canada, delivered from the throne to the Provincial Parliament on the 16th inst.

"I have been induced to assemble the Legislature at an earlier period of the year than usual, not only from the desire I feel to assure you personally, that my best endeavours shall be used to promote the welfare of this extensive and valuable colony, for the prosperity of which I feel the most anxious solicitude; but also to call the immediate attention of the Provincial Parliament to a most grievious calamity which can only be properly remedied by legislative interference. I allude to the failure of the crops in different parts of the province, but more particularly in the parishes below Quebec, where it has been represented to me, that the inhabitants have been reduced to a state of absolute want.

"Having ascertained that this evil really did exist to an alarming extent, I lost no time in making such temporary arrangements as would secure the lower orders from the dreadful effects of famine, until the legislature should be convened.

"The failure of the last year's harvest is, I find, generally attributed to an unpropitious season. It may however be a subject worthy of investigation, Whether other circumstances may not have had a share in producing the present scarcity, and if any such causes exist, to consider how far it may be in the power of the Legislature to prevent their future influence."

The Prince Regent of England, as King of Hanover, has appointed the Duke of Cambridge Governor General of Hanover. On the demise of the Prince Regent, the Duke of York will succeed to the throne of Hanover, where the salique law is in force.

The four physicians attending the King of England, reported on the first of November, that though his mental disease was not abated, he enjoyed good bodily health. He will be seventy-nine years of age next June.

Jerome Bonaparte & his Princess a daughter of the deceased King of Wertemburg, are visiting Madame Murat at Hamburg, near Vienna (not Hamburg as frequently misprinted,) where the Princess Louisa Julia Caroline, second daughter to the late King, of Naples (Murat) is betrothed to a Hungarian Nobleman.—She is thirteen years old, and will have a dower of three millions of ducates.—None of the family of the Bonapartes, took so good a care of No. one, as Marie Coroline, who married Murat.

The first wife of Jerome (Miss Patterson) is travelling in the interior of England with her brother.

GEORGE the Third has reigned longer than any other Sovereign that ever sat on the British Throne"—if it is called reigning since his unfortunate malady.

Valuable Establishment

FOR SALE, that well-known Tavern, called

with all the out houses, stables &c. Perhaps there is not in the United States a stand which combines greater advantages, or could be obtained upon more reasonable terms.

The House is spacious and convenient, having two large Halls, with a number of sleeping rooms, as also some rooms not attached to the principal house. The Kitchen, Smoke-House, &c. are convenient and in good order, and the whole in good repair. There is a large vacant lot immediately upon one of the most principal streets in town, which might be improved for the good of the establishment, as also a large Garden in the rear of the Hotel.

The advantages arising from this establishment are greater than usually belong to situations of this kind. It is situated in the centre of a large and thriving Town; and besides possessing all the benefit of transient town and country custom, it is the STAGE HOUSE for Four regular lines of Mail Stages. The Furniture in the Hotel would also be disposed of.

Nothing would induce me to relinquish this advantageous establishment, but the peculiar situation of my family, and a wish to decline a business of this nature.

The terms are extremely liberal, which will be made known upon application to the subscriber. DILLON JORDAN
